

❖ CONTENTS ❖

Tables	ix
Acknowledgments	xiii
PART I TWO COUNTRIES, TWO RESPONSES
1 How Two Countries Respond to Children's Needs	3
2 Differences in Spending and Program Design	12
PART II FRENCH PROGRAMS FOR CHILD WELL-BEING
3 Government Child-Care Programs in France	27
4 French Payments to Raise Children's Living Standards	50
5 Medical Services for Child Well-Being in France	70
PART III AMERICAN PROGRAMS FOR CHILDREN, PAST AND FUTURE
6 American Programs for Children: Keeping Millions Deprived	91
7 Reducing Child Poverty by Helping Working Parents	117
8 Can We Conquer Child Poverty in America Through Political Action?	139
Notes	153
Index	175

❖ TABLES ❖

1.1	How Taxes and Benefits Lower the Percentage of Children Who Are Poor in the United States and Seven European Countries, 1984–87	6
1.2	Economic and Demographic Data for the United States and France, 1991	8
2.1	Summary of French and U.S. Government Expenditures for Children’s Well-Being, 1991	17
2.2	Government Expenditures on Children’s Well-Being Compared with Other Expenditures for the United States and France, 1991	19
2.3	Taxation in France and the United States as a Percentage of Gross Domestic Product, 1990	20
3.1	Summary of French Government Expenditures on Child Care, 1991	28
3.2	Percentage of French Children Attending Nursery School, by Age, 1960–91	30
3.3	French Government Spending for Nursery Schools, 1991	32
3.4	Percentage of French Children Repeating the First Grade, by Time Spent in Nursery School	33
3.5	Government-Subsidized Facilities in France for Full-Time Infant Care, 1991	36
3.6	Budget of a French Day-Care Center ( Crèche Collective ) Capable of Enrolling Twenty Children Up to Age Three, 1991	38
3.7	Charges Per Day by Public Infant-Care Centers for Full-Time Care for a Child Under Three, by Family Income, 1991	40
3.8	Government-Subsidized Facilities for Part-Time Child Care in France, 1991	44

3.9	How Children Under Three Were Cared For in France, 1990	45
4.1	French Government Expenditure on Payments to Improve Living Standards of Families with Children, 1991	52
4.2	Major Monthly Income-Supplementing Benefits in France, by Number and Ages of Children, 1991	54
4.3	French Government Transfer Payments to Couples (Married or Unmarried) with Children, by Family Income, 1990 (francs per year)	56
4.4	French Government Transfer Payments to Couples (Married or Unmarried) with Children, by Family Income, 1990 (dollars per year)	57
4.5	Family Allowances in Countries Who Are Members of the European Community, 1990 (in dollars)	59
4.6	Monthly French Housing Subsidies Provided by the Aide Personnalisée au Logement (APL), for Couples or Single Parents, by Annual Taxable Income and Number of Children, 1991 (in francs)	63
4.7	Monthly French Housing Subsidies Provided by the Aide Personnalisée au Logement (APL), for Couples or Single Parents, by Annual Taxable Income and Number of Children, 1991 (in dollars)	64
5.1	Government Spending in France for Medical Care for Families with Children, 1991	71
5.2	Infant Mortality in France and the United States, 1945–88	73
5.3	Operations of the Rhône Protection Maternelle et Infantile	76
6.1	Expenditure for Government Programs for Children in the United States, 1991	93
6.2	Health Insurance Coverage for Children Under Medicaid, by Age and Poverty Status, 1992	106
6.3	Enrollment of Children Three to Five in Pre-Primary Programs in the United States, 1992	109
7.1	Monthly Requirements for Goods and Services, Basic Needs Budget for U.S. Single-Mother Families, with Two Preschool Children, 1993	120

7.2	Three Methods of Providing a Family Consisting of a Single Mother and Two Preschool Children with Enough Resources to Buy the Basic Needs Budget in 1993	121
7.3	Estimation of Cost for Current Programs Helping Low-Income Families with Children, Versus Proposed Help-For-Working-Parents (HWP) Program (1994 magnitudes)	128