

Contributors

Elinor Ostrom is the Arthur F. Bentley Professor of Political Science and codirector of the Workshop in Political Theory and Policy Analysis and the Center for the Study of Institutions, Population, and Environmental Change at Indiana University, Bloomington.

James Walker is professor of economics and a member of the research faculty of the Workshop in Political Theory and Policy Analysis at Indiana University, Bloomington.

T. K. Ahn is a research associate at the Workshop in Political Theory and Policy Analysis at Indiana University, Bloomington.

Karen S. Cook is the Ray Lyman Wilbur Professor of Sociology and Cognizant Dean of the Social Sciences at Stanford University.

Robin M. Cooper is a doctoral candidate in the Department of Sociology at Stanford University and is a research associate at the Laboratory for Social Research.

Frans B. M. de Waal is the C.H. Candler Professor of Primate Behavior in the Department of Psychology and director of the Living Links Center for the Study of Human and Ape Evolution at the Yerkes Primate Center, both at Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia.

Catherine C. Eckel is professor of economics at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, where she also directs the Laboratory for the Study of Human Thought and Action (LSHTA).

James Hanley is a visiting instructor at Adrian College, Adrian, Michigan.

William T. Harbaugh is associate professor of economics at the University of Oregon, Eugene.

Russell Hardin is professor of politics at New York University and professor of political science at Stanford University.

Kate Krause is associate professor of economics at the University of New Mexico.

Robert Kurzban is assistant professor of psychology at the University of Pennsylvania.

Margaret Levi is professor of political science and the Jere L. Bacharach Professor of International Studies at the University of Washington, Seattle.

Steven G. Liday Jr. is a former undergraduate student at the University of Oregon, Eugene.

Kevin A. McCabe is professor of economics and law at George Mason University.

Tomonori Morikawa is associate professor of political science at the Center for International Education at Waseda University, Tokyo, Japan.

John Orbell is the Distinguished Professor of Political Science and Cognitive Science at the University of Oregon.

David Schmidt was assistant professor in the Department of Economics at Indiana University and a member of the research faculty of the Workshop in Political Theory and Policy Analysis at the time of this writing. He is currently an economist at the Federal Trade Commission.

Vernon L. Smith is professor of economics and law at George Mason University, a research scholar in the Interdisciplinary Center for Economic Science, and a fellow of the Mercatus Center, all in Arlington, Virginia.

Lise Vesterlund is assistant professor of economics at the University of Pittsburgh.

Rick K. Wilson is professor of political science and director of the Behavioral Research Laboratory at Rice University, Houston, Texas.

Toshio Yamagishi is professor of social psychology at Hokkaido University, Japan.