

Contents

FOREWORD	v
PREFACE	vii
I. INTRODUCTION	1
The Role of Law	3
Legal and Civic Competence	7
The Study	9
Origins of the Agency	10
II. THE EARLY IAC: An Agency of Public Welfare	16
A Social-Problem Approach	17
A Problem of Public Welfare	17
Compensation as a Measure of Relief	20
Law and Problem-Solving	24
The Need for Discretion	25
Overcoming Adversariness	29
Withdrawing the Program from the Legal Order	30
An Administrative Authority	34
III. A CRITICAL DECISION: Voluntarism and Positive Government	41
Commitment to a Self-Administered System	42
Compensation by Private Liability	45
Insurance by Private Carriers	47
The "Direct Payment" System	48
The Need for Positive Government	50
The Failure of Self-Administration	50
A Committed Agency	53
Strategies of Administration: Participation and Control	54
The Spur of State Competition	55
Education and Assistance in Problem-Solving	56
Strengthening the Competence of Injured Persons	56
Administrative Control	57

Control of Insurance	57
Control of Claims Adjustment	58
Control over the Injured	60
Control of Safety	60
Conclusion: The Seeds of Change	61
IV. THE PARTIES: The Growth of Initiative and Competence	66
The Roots of Adversariness	67
Industry: The Organization of Defense	69
Labor: Toward Organized Initiative	72
Labor: Conditions of Legal Competence	78
Legal Competence and Civic Competence	78
Legal Competence and Conceptions of Law	81
Legal Competence and Orientations to Authority	84
Autonomy and Commitment	86
Conclusion	96
V. THE LEGAL PROFESSION: Organizational Advocacy	104
The IAC and the Representation of Claimants	105
The Emergence of Organized Representation	107
Characteristics of Organizational Advocacy	110
From Individual to Class Interests	111
The Broadening of Participation	113
The Active Creation of Grievances	114
Strategic Advocacy	117
Conclusion and Caution	120
VI. ADMINISTRATIVE WITHDRAWAL	125
Retreating from Control	126
Loss of Autonomy	128
The Erosion of Paternalism	133
Withdrawing from Politics	139
The New Doctrine	149
From Initiative to Passivity	149
Neutrality and the Loss of Commitment	151
From Public Welfare to Private Interests	154
From Pattern-Oriented to Claims-Oriented	156
VII. THE EMERGENCE OF A COURT	165
The Legalization of Controversy	166
The Growth of Procedural Standards	174

Opportunity to Be Heard	177
Identification of Responsible Authority	183
Justification and the Right of Appeal	188
Administrative Purpose and Judicial Accountability	192
Rule-Making	195
The Formalization of Informal Processes	198
From Administration to Adjudication	201
VIII. USES OF JUDICIALISM	211
The Court	212
The Factory	221
Reduction of Procedural Opportunities	221
Routinization	224
“Litigation Avoidance”	227
Average Justice	232
Adjudication and the Flight from Policy	234
IX. LEGAL DEVELOPMENT AND INSTITUTIONAL CHANGE	244
From Policy to Law	244
Law and Authority	246
Law and the Person	256
Law and Politics	261
The Privatization of Public Policy	261
Political Tensions in the Legal Order	264
INDEX	269