

Contributors |

BARBARA WOLFE is professor of economics, population health sciences, and public affairs and faculty affiliate at the Institute for Research on Poverty at the University of Wisconsin–Madison.

WILLIAM EVANS is Keough-Hesburgh Professor of Economics at the University of Notre Dame.

TERESA E. SEEMAN is professor of medicine and epidemiology at the University of California, Los Angeles.

NANCY ADLER is Lisa and John Pritzker Professor of Psychology in the Departments of Psychiatry and Pediatrics at the University of California, San Francisco.

JAY BHATTACHARYA is associate professor of medicine at the Stanford University School of Medicine.

MICHELLE C. CARLSON is associate professor of mental health and associate director of the Center on Aging and Health at Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health.

MEANNE CHAN is Ph.D. candidate in psychology at Northwestern University.

AMITABH CHANDRA is professor of public policy at the Harvard Kennedy School of Government.

EDITH CHEN is professor of psychology at the Institute for Policy Research at Northwestern University.

WILLIAM H. DOW is Henry J. Kaiser Professor of Health Economics at the University of California, Berkeley School of Public Health, and associate director of the Berkeley Population Center.

ELLIOT FRIEDMAN is assistant professor of human development and family studies at Purdue University.

TARA L. GRUENEWALD is assistant professor of gerontology in the Davis School of Gerontology at the University of Southern California.

DANIEL A. HACKMAN is Ph.D. candidate in psychology at the University of Pennsylvania.

NICOLE HAIR is Ph.D. candidate in economics at the University of Wisconsin–Madison.

JAMIE HANSON is Ph.D. candidate in psychology at the University of Wisconsin–Madison.

ARUN S. KARLAMANGLA is professor of medicine in the David Geffen School of Medicine at the University of California, Los Angeles.

CATARINA KIEFE is professor of quantitative health sciences at the University of Massachusetts Medical School.

ED MOSS is director of the Developmental Neuropsychology Service in the Department of Pediatric Psychology of the Children's Seashore House (Department of Pediatrics, University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine).

SETH D. POLLAK is College of Letters and Science Distinguished Professor of Psychology at the University of Wisconsin–Madison.

DAVID H. REHKOPF is assistant professor of medicine at the Stanford University School of Medicine.

HANNAH M. C. SCHREIER is Ph.D. candidate in psychology at the University of British Columbia.

CHRISTOPHER L. SEPLAKI is assistant professor of community and preventative medicine at the University of Rochester Medical Center.