About the Authors

ÊVE CAROLI is professor of economics at University Paris X-Nanterre and senior researcher at EconomiX and the Paris School of Economics.

JÉRÔME GAUTIÉ is professor of economics at the University of Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne, senior researcher at the Centre d’Economie de la Sorbonne.

ANNÉE MARIE ARBORIO is assistant professor in Sociology at the University of Aix-Marseille I and a member of the Institute of Labor Economics and Industrial Sociology (LEST) in Aix-en-Provence, France.

PHILIPPE ASKENAZY is senior researcher at the CNRS-Paris School of Economics, Deputy-Director of the Centre Pour la Recherche en Économie et ses Applications, and IZA Research Fellow.

MATHIEU BERAUD is assistant professor of economics at the University Nancy 1 (Henri Poincaré), researcher at GREE (Groupe de recherche sur l’éducation et l’emploi), and director of the associate Céreq (French Center for Research on Education, Training, and Employment) for the Lorraine region.

JEAN-BAPTISTE BERRY is a researcher at the Direction of Research Animation, Studies and Statistics (Ministry of Labor and Social Affairs).

JACQUES BOUTEILLER is labor socioeconomist at the Institute of Labor Economics and Industrial Sociology, Aix-en-Provence.

LISE CAUSSE is a sociologist and researcher at the National Research Center on Qualifications, Marseille.

THIERRY COLIN is assistant professor of economics and business at the University of Nancy 2, and researcher at CEREFIGE and GREE.
Émilie Fériel is a PhD student in economics and member of the laboratory Groupe de Recherche sur l’Education et l’Emploi (University of Nancy 2).

Benoît Grassner is assistant professor of economics and business at the University Nancy 2, and researcher at GREE and CERREFIGE.

Christine Guégnard is a researcher at the French Center for Research on Education, Training and Employment (Céreq) and at the Institute on Sociology and Economics of Education (Iredu), associated with the French National Center for Scientific Research (CNRS) and the University of Burgundy.

Annie Lamanthe is a sociologist and researcher at the Institute of Labour Economics and Industrial Sociology (LEST) - Céreq’s Associated Regional Center in Aix-en-Provence, France.

Philippe Méhaut is senior researcher at the CNRS, Institute for Labor Economics and Industrial Sociology (LEST) in Aix-en-Provence.

Sylvie-Anne Mériot is a sociologist and researcher at the Céreq, the French Center for Research on Education, Training and Employment.

Philippe Mossé is an economist, senior researcher, and director of the Institute of Labor Economics and Industrial Sociology, Aix-en-Provence.

Sophie Prunier-Poulmaire is assistant professor at the University of Paris 10-Nanterre.

Robert Solow is Institute Professor Emeritus at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a Nobel laureate in economics.