

About the Authors

Kathryn Edin is Professor of Public Policy and Management at the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University and Faculty Associate at the Population Studies Center at the University of Pennsylvania.

Paula England is professor of sociology at Stanford University.

Amy Claessens is a Ph.D. candidate in human development and social policy at Northwestern University.

Mimi Engel is a Ph.D. candidate at Northwestern University's program in human development and social policy.

Christina M. Gibson-Davis is an assistant professor at the Terry Sanford Institute of Public Policy, Duke University.

Heather D. Hill will receive her Ph.D. in human development and social policy from Northwestern University, and is a visiting scholar at the Taubman Center for Public Policy at Brown University.

Kathryn D. Linnenberg is an assistant professor of sociology at Beloit College.

Katherine A. Magnuson is an assistant professor of social work and a research affiliate of the Institute for Policy Research at the University of Wisconsin, Madison.

Lindsay M. Monte is a doctoral candidate in Northwestern University's program in human development and social policy.

Joanna Reed is a Ph.D. candidate in sociology at Northwestern University.

Emily Fitzgibbons Shafer is a Ph.D. candidate in the Department of Sociology at Stanford University.