

== Contents ==

	About the Authors	xv
	Acknowledgments	xvii
	Introduction: How Maurice Halbwachs Died—and How We Remember Him	xxi
CHAPTER 1	From Law to Collective Memory: Breaking Cycles of Violence?	1
CHAPTER 2	What the Literature Tells Us, and Uncharted Terrain	15
CHAPTER 3	Constructing and Remembering the My Lai Massacre with Rajiv Evan Rajan and Lacy Mitchell	34
CHAPTER 4	From Vietnam to Iraq: Bridging Metaphors, Mnemonic Struggles, and Haunting with Jeremy Minyard	53
CHAPTER 5	Slobodan Milosevic Through Lenses of Law, Diplomacy, and Media Reporting with Courtney Faue and Yu-Ju Chien	76
CHAPTER 6	The Shape of American Memories—and a German Comparison	107
CHAPTER 7	From Collective Memory to Law: Theoretical Interlude	123
CHAPTER 8	How American Memory Shapes Hate Crime Law—and a German Comparison	135

CHAPTER 9	Commemorating Injustice and Implementing Hate Crime Law Across Jurisdictions in the United States	150
CHAPTER 10	Conclusion: Atrocities, Law, and Collective Memory in the United States and Beyond	166
	Appendix A: History Textbooks Used in My Lai Content Analysis	180
	Appendix B: Detailed Tables on Coverage of Milosevic	186
	Notes	189
	References	215
	Index	231