

Contributors

Timothy M. Smeeding is director of the Institute for Research on Poverty and Distinguished Professor of Public Affairs at the University of Wisconsin–Madison.

Robert Erikson is professor of sociology at the Swedish Institute for Social Research, Stockholm University.

Markus Jäntti is professor of economics at the Swedish Institute for Social Research, Stockholm University.

Jo Blanden is lecturer in economics at the University of Surrey and research associate at the Center for Economic Performance, London School of Economics.

Miles Corak is professor of economics in the Graduate School of Public and International Affairs at the University of Ottawa.

Lori J. Curtis is professor in the Department of Economics at the University of Waterloo, Ontario.

Matthew Di Carlo is senior fellow of the Albert Shanker Institute.

Greg J. Duncan is Distinguished Professor in the Department of Education at the University of California, Irvine.

John Ermisch is professor of economics at the Institute for Social and Economic Research at the University of Essex (United Kingdom).

Gøsta Esping-Andersen is Icrea Academia Professor at the Universitat Pompeu Fabra in Barcelona.

David B. Grusky is professor of sociology at Stanford University, director of the Center for the Study of Poverty and Inequality at Stanford University, and co-editor (with Paula England) of the Stanford University Press Social Inequality Series.

Robert Haveman is the John Bascom Emeritus Professor of Economics and Public Affairs and research affiliate of the Institute for Research on Poverty at the University of Wisconsin–Madison.

John Jerrim is research officer in the Department of Quantitative Social Science at the Institute of Education, University of London.

Jan O. Jonsson is professor of sociology at the Swedish Institute for Social Research at Stockholm University and responsible for the Swedish Level-of-Living Survey (LNU).

Ariel Kalil is professor at the Harris School of Public Policy Studies at the University of Chicago, director of the Center for Human Potential and Public Policy, and a developmental psychologist.

Bertrand Maître is research officer at the Economic and Social Research Institute, Dublin.

John Micklewright is professor of quantitative social science in the Department of Quantitative Social Science at the Institute of Education, University of London.

Carina Mood is assistant professor of sociology at the Swedish Institute for Social Research, Stockholm University.

Brian Nolan is professor of public policy in the School of Applied Social Science, University College Dublin.

Fabian T. Pfeffer is Faculty Research Fellow at the Survey Research Center and a faculty associate at the Population Studies Center at the Institute for Social Research, University of Michigan.

Shelley Phipps is professor of economics at Dalhousie University, currently holding the Maxwell Chair in Economics; fellow of the Canadian Institute for Advanced Research (Social Interactions, Identity and Well-Being Group); and program director for Children, Family, and Work-Life Issues for the Canadian Labor and Skills Research Network.

Reinhard Pollak is research fellow at the Social Science Research Center (WZB) in Berlin.

Chiara Pronzato is assistant professor in the Department of Economics at the University of Turin, Italy.

James P. Smith is the RAND Chair in Labor Markets and Demographic Studies.

Kjetil Telle is head of research at the Section for Social and Demographic Research, Statistics Norway.

Sander Wagner is research assistant in the Department of Political and Social Sciences at Universitat Pompeu Fabra, Barcelona, Spain.

Jane Waldfogel is professor of social work and public affairs at the Columbia University School of Social Work and visiting professor at the Centre for Analysis of Social Exclusion at the London School of Economics.

Elizabeth Washbrook is research associate with the Centre for Multilevel Modelling at the University of Bristol.

Christopher T. Whelan is professor of sociology and head of the School of Sociology, University College Dublin.

Kathryn Wilson is professor of economics at Kent State University.

Kathleen M. Ziol-Guest is postdoctoral associate in the Department of Policy Analysis and Management at Cornell University, and senior researcher at Statistics Norway.

Julie M. Zissimopoulos is research associate professor in the Titus Family Department of Clinical Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Economics and Policy, and associate director of the Schaeffer Center for Health Policy and Economics at the University of Southern California.