

Contributors

EILEEN APPELBAUM is professor and director of the Center for Women and Work at Rutgers University.

ANNETTE BERNHARDT is a sociologist and senior policy analyst at the Brennan Center for Justice at the New York University School of Law.

RICHARD J. MURNANE is the Thompson Professor of Education and Society at the Harvard Graduate School of Education and research associate at the National Bureau of Economic Research.

DAVID H. AUTOR is the Pentti J.K. Kouri Assistant Professor of Economics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and research fellow at the National Bureau of Economic Research.

JOHN W. BALLANTINE JR. is an associate of the Malcolm Weiner Center for Social Policy at the John F. Kennedy School of Government, Harvard University. He is also director of the Masters in Finance Program at the Brandeis International School of Business.

ANN P. BARTEL is the A. Barton Professor of Economics at Columbia Business School and research associate at the National Bureau of Economic Research.

ROSEMARY BATT is associate professor of human resource studies and the Alice H. Cook Professor of Women and Work at the Industrial and Labor Relations School, Cornell University.

PETER BERG is associate professor at the School of Labor and Industrial Relations, Michigan State University.

RACHEL CONNELLY is professor of economics at Bowdoin College.

DEBORAH S. DEGRAFF is associate professor of economics at Bowdoin College.

LAURA DRESSER is a labor economist and research director at the Center on Wisconsin Strategy at the University of Wisconsin, Madison.

GEORGE A. ERICKCEK is senior regional analyst at the W. E. Upjohn Institute for Employment Research.

RONALD F. FERGUSON is lecturer in public policy at the John F. Kennedy School of Government and senior research associate at the Malcolm Weiner Center for Social Policy, Harvard University.

DAVID FINEGOLD is associate professor at the Keck Graduate Institute of Applied Life Sciences.

ANN FROST is assistant professor at the Richard Ivey School of Business, the University of Western Ontario.

ERIN HATTON is a doctoral candidate in the Sociology Department at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, and research associate at the Center on Wisconsin Strategy.

SUSAN HELPER is professor of economics at the Weatherhead School of Management, Case Western Reserve University. She is also research associate of the National Bureau of Economic Research.

SUSAN N. HOUSEMAN is senior economist at the W. E. Upjohn Institute for Employment Research.

LARRY W. HUNTER is assistant professor of management and human resources at the School of Business at the University of Wisconsin, Madison.

CASEY ICHNIOWSKI is professor of management at Columbia Business School and research associate at the National Bureau of Economic Research.

DEREK C. JONES is the Irma M. and Robert D. Morris Professor of Economics at Hamilton College and research associate of the David Institute at the University of Michigan.

ARNE L. KALLEBERG is the Kenan Professor of Sociology at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

TAKAO KATO is professor of economics and presidential scholar at Colgate University. He is also research associate at the Center on Japanese Economy and Business at Columbia University and at the Tokyo Center for Economic Research.

MORRIS M. KLEINER is professor of labor policy at the Humphrey Institute and Industrial Relations Center at the University of Minnesota. He is also research associate of the National Bureau of Economic Research.

JULIA LANE is principal research associate at the Urban Institute and senior research fellow at the U.S. Census Bureau.

ALEC LEVENSON is assistant professor at the Center for Effective Organizations at the Marshall School of Business, the University of Southern California.

FRANK LEVY is the Daniel Rose Professor of Urban Education at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

PHILIP MOSS is professor of regional economic and social development at the University of Massachusetts, Lowell.

GIL PRUESS is assistant professor at the Weatherhead School of Management, Case Western Reserve University.

HAROLD SALZMAN is a sociologist and research professor at the Center for Industrial Competitiveness and director of the Center for Security, Safety, and Society.

KATHRYN SHAW is professor of economics at Carnegie Mellon University and research associate at the National Bureau of Economic Research.

CHRIS TILLY is the University Professor of Regional Economic and Social Development at the University of Massachusetts, Lowell.

MARK VAN BUREN is a strategic research consultant who heads the Learning and Development Roundtable for the Corporate Executive Board.

ADAM WEINBERG is associate professor of sociology and Dean of the College at Colgate University.

STEFFANIE WILK is assistant professor of management at the Wharton School of Business at the University of Pennsylvania.

RACHEL A. WILLIS is professor of American studies and economics at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where she is a Chapman Faculty Fellow at the Institute for the Arts and Humanities.