

Contributors

Jeanne Brooks-Gunn is Virginia and Leonard Marx Professor of Child Development at Teachers College, Columbia University. She is also director of the Center for Young Children and Families, and co-directs the Adolescent Study Program at Teachers College.

Greg J. Duncan is professor of education and social policy and a faculty associate in the Institute for Policy Research at Northwestern University.

Terry Adams is research associate at the Institute for Social Research, University of Michigan.

William Axinn is associate professor of sociology and senior research associate of the Population Research Institute, Pennsylvania State University.

Bernard Boulerice is statistical consultant for the Research Unit on Children's Psycho-Social Maladjustment.

Karen P. Carver is a postdoctoral research associate at the Carolina Population Center, University of North Carolina.

Katherine Jewsbury Conger is a research scientist at the Center for Family Research, Iowa State University.

Rand D. Conger is professor of sociology and psychology and director of the Center for Family Research, Iowa State University.

Mary Corcoran is professor of political science in the Department of Public Policy and Social Work, University of Michigan.

Randal D. Day is professor of human development at Washington State University.

Glen H. Elder, Jr. is professor of sociology at the University of North Carolina.

Thomas L. Hanson is assistant professor of child and family studies at Syracuse University.

Robert M. Hauser is the Vilas Research Professor of Sociology at the University of Wisconsin, Madison. He also directs the Wisconsin Longitudinal Study.

Contributors

Robert Haveman is John Bascom Professor of Economics and Public Affairs at the University of Wisconsin, Madison.

Donald J. Hernandez is study director of the Board on Children, Youth, and Families of the National Academy of Sciences and Institute of Medicine. He is also senior subject matter expert, Survey of Program Dynamics of the U.S. Bureau of the Census.

Pamela K. Klebanov is research scientist at Teachers College, Columbia University.

Sanders Korenman is associate professor in the school of public affairs at Baruch College and a member of the doctoral faculty in economics at the City University of New York Graduate Center. He is also a member of the National Bureau of Economic Research.

Ellen L. Lipman is a child psychiatrist and member of the Centre for Studies of Children at Risk. She is also assistant professor in the department of psychiatry, McMaster University, Hamilton, Ontario.

Nancy Maritato was a research associate at the National Research Council who worked on the Behavioral and Social Science and Education Commission.

Susan E. Mayer is associate professor of sociology in the Harris Graduate School of Public Policy Studies, University of Chicago.

Sara S. McLanahan is professor of sociology and public affairs at Princeton University. She is also a member of the Board on Children, Youth, and Families of the National Academy of Sciences and Institute of Medicine.

Jane E. Miller is assistant research professor at Institute for Health, Health Care Policy, and Aging Research. She is also assistant professor in the Department of Urban Studies and Community Health at Rutgers University.

Natalie C. Mullis received her bachelor of arts in economics from University of Colorado, Boulder.

The National Institute of Child Health and Development (NICHD) is a collaborative group conducting a longitudinal study of the effects of early child care.

David R. Offord is a child psychiatrist and the director of the Centre for Studies of Children at Risk. He is also professor of psychiatry, McMaster University, Hamilton, Ontario.

Linda Pagani is assistant professor of psycho-education at the University of Montreal.

Kathleen M. Paasch is associate in research in the Department of Human Development at Washington State University.

H. Elizabeth Peters is associate professor in the Department of Policy Analysis and Management at Cornell University.

Judith R. Smith is associate professor at Fordham University Graduate School of Social Services. She is also research associate at the Center for Young Children and Families at Teachers College, Columbia University.

Megan M. Sweeney is doctoral candidate in sociology at the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Jay D. Teachman is professor and chair of human development at Washington State University.

Elizabeth Thomson is professor of sociology at the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Arland Thornton is professor of sociology, research scientist of the Institute for Social Research, and the associate director of the Population Studies Center, University of Michigan.

Richard E. Tremblay is both professor of psychology and psychiatry and director of the Research Unit on Children's Psycho-Social Maladjustment.

Kathryn Wilson is assistant professor of economics at Kent State University.

Barbara Wolfe is professor of economics and preventive medicine and director of the Institute for Research on Poverty at the University of Wisconsin, Madison.