Contributors

Michael Jones-Correa is associate professor of government at Cornell University.

Max Castro is senior research associate at the North-South Center at the University of Miami.

Guillermo J. Grenier is director of the Center for Labor Research and Studies and associate professor of sociology at Florida International University.

Patrick D. Joyce is lecturer in government at Harvard University.

Peter Kwong is director of the Asian American Studies Program at Hunter College and professor of sociology at the Graduate Center of City University of New York.

Paula D. McClain is professor of political science and director of the Race, Ethnicity, and Politics Program in the Department of Political Science at Duke University.

Matthew McKeever is assistant professor of sociology at the University of Kentucky.

John Mollenkopf is professor of political science and director of the Center for Urban Research at the City University Graduate Center in New York.

David Olson is in the Planning and Analysis Unit of the Bronx District Attorney’s office in New York City.

Edward J.W. Park is the director of the Asian Pacific American Studies program at the Loyola Marymount University in Los Angeles, California.
John S.W. Park is an assistant professor of American studies and Asian American studies at the University of Texas at Austin.

Timothy Ross is senior research associate at the Vera Institute of Justice in New York City.

Raphael J. Sonenshein is a political scientist at California State University, Fullerton, and a Fellow of the John Randolph Haynes and Dora Haynes Foundation.

Steven C. Tauber is assistant professor in the department of government and international affairs at the University of South Florida.