

Contributors

Joel Perlmann is a senior scholar at the Levy Economics Institute of Bard College and the Levy Economics Institute Research Professor at the college.

Mary C. Waters is the Harvard College Professor and chair of the Sociology Department at Harvard University.

Margo J. Anderson is professor of history and director of the Urban Studies Programs at the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee.

Barry Edmonston is professor of urban studies and planning and director of the Population Research Center at Portland State University.

Reynolds Farley is a research scientist at the Population Studies Center at the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research and professor of sociology.

Nathan Glazer is professor emeritus of education and sociology at Harvard University.

Joshua R. Goldstein is associate professor in the Department of Sociology and the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University.

Hugh Davis Graham was Holland N. McTyeire Professor of History and professor of political science at Vanderbilt University.

CONTRIBUTORS

David R. Harris is assistant professor of sociology at the University of Michigan and assistant research scientist at the Institute for Social Research.

Roderick J. Harrison is associate professor of sociology at Howard University. He was chief of racial statistics at the Census Bureau from 1990 to 1997.

Jennifer L. Hochschild is professor of government at Harvard University, with a joint appointment in the Afro-American Studies Department.

Matthew Frye Jacobson is professor of American studies, history, and African American studies at Yale University.

Sharon M. Lee is professor of sociology at Portland State University.

Steve Miller is a mathematical statistician in the Office of Survey Methods Research at the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Ann J. Morning is a doctoral candidate in the Department of Sociology at Princeton University.

Melissa Nobles is associate professor of political science at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Jennifer Parker is acting chief of the Population Epidemiology Branch at the National Center for Health Statistics.

Jeffrey S. Passel is principal research associate at the Population Studies Center of the Urban Institute.

Nathaniel Persily is assistant professor at the University of Pennsylvania Law School.

Kenneth Prewitt is the Carnegie Professor of Public Affairs at Columbia University and was director of the Census Bureau from 1998 to 2001.

Peter Skerry is professor of government at Claremont McKenna College and senior fellow at the Brookings Institution.

C. Matthew Snipp is professor of sociology at Stanford University.

Werner Sollors is the Henry B. and Anne M. Cabot Professor of English Literature and professor of Afro-American studies at Harvard University.

CONTRIBUTORS

Sonya M. Tafoya is a research associate at the Public Policy Institute of California.

Clyde Tucker is senior survey methodologist in the Office of Survey Methods Research at the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

