

Contents

---

	About the Authors	vii
	Acknowledgments	ix
PART I	Theoretical Background and Overview of the Study	1
Chapter 1	Introduction	3
Chapter 2	Theoretical Orientations and Major Themes	9
Chapter 3	The Site and the Study	32
PART II	Sociopolitical Attitudes and Group Identities: The Entering Student and Persisting Differences	63
Chapter 4	Cultural Diversity and Sociopolitical Attitudes at College Entry	65
Chapter 5	The Overall Effects of College on Students' Sociopolitical Attitudes	100
Chapter 6	The Origins and Persistence of Ethnic Identity Among the New-Immigrant Groups	136
Chapter 7	In Search of a Common Ingroup Identity: National and University Identities	163

Contents

PART III	The Impact of Specific University Experiences on Sociopolitical Attitudes and Academic Adjustment	183
Chapter 8	The Effects of Close Intergroup Contact: Interethnic Friendship and Dating in College	185
Chapter 9	The Effects of Contact with Ethnically Diverse Roommates	206
Chapter 10	Ethnic Organizations and Ethnic Attitudes on Campus	228
Chapter 11	Minority Ethnic Groups and the University Experience	250
PART IV	Conclusions	293
Chapter 12	Summary and Theoretical Integration	295
	Appendix A: Survey Questions, Scales, and Waves	325
	Appendix B: Table of Scale Reliabilities by Wave	349
	Appendix C: Attrition Analyses	353
	Notes	363
	References	405
	Index	431